Apple Tracks Users Who Opt Out, Pa. Wiretap Suit Alleges

In “Apple Tracks Users Who Opt Out, Pa. Wiretap Suit Alleges” (Law360, January 9, 2023), Law360 covers a proposed privacy class action suit against Apple in Pennsylvania federal court. The suit alleges that Apple is unlawfully collecting data from users of iPhones and iPads, even after consumers explicitly choose settings that prevent data sharing.

Pollock Cohen managing partner Adam Pollock is representing plaintiffs in this case.

Click the link below to read more. Please note, a subscription may be required.

Apple Tracks Users Who Opt Out, Pa. Wiretap Suit Alleges | Law360