

Donald Trump Loses Bid To Delay Enforcement of $450mn New York Fraud Verdict

In "Donald Trump Loses Bid To Delay Enforcement of $450mn New York Fraud Verdict" (The Financial Times, February 28, 2024), Adam Pollock discusses New York Attorney General Letitia James' ability to enforce the $455 judgment against Donald Trump.

When asked about the upshot of the ruling, Adam noted that, "Trump must post a bond and, until then, the attorney-general can direct a New York City sheriff or marshal to walk into a bank or other financial institution and directly execute on Trump's assets."

He added, "And conveniently, the AG already knows where he banks."
