

Ana Cabrera Reports: James Comey Subpoenaed in "Grand Conspiracy" Probe

Adam Pollock joined Erielle Reshef on Ana Cabrera Reports on MS NOW (MSNBC), with Ken Dilanian, MS NOW Justice and Intelligence correspondent, to discuss the Justice Department's "grand conspiracy" investigation into President Trump's perceived political foes, including former FBI Director James Comey.

Among the issues discussed:

- Whether this is a legitimate case or cause for concern – while anyone targeted by an investigation should take it seriously, this appears to be driven more by retribution than by evidence.
- Whether the case is substantively flawed - given that a prior Special Counsel investigation led by John Durham examined these same allegations and found no wrongdoing.
- Whether this case is procedurally barred - since events date back to 2016–2017, raising serious statute of limitations concerns.
- Is this a vindictive strategy in the use of the criminal process?
