

Honor and Loyalty: A West Point Scandal Serves as a Reminder of the Enduring Tensions between Time-Honored Values

In “Honor and Loyalty: A West Point Scandal Serves as a Reminder of the Enduring Tensions between Time-Honored Values” (City Journal, May 17, 2021), partner Steve Cohen discusses a West Point scandal that serves as a reminder of the enduring tensions between time-honored values. He notes, “The honor code will never eliminate cheating. Cadets are only human. But properly enforced, the honor code is a lodestar that reminds us of the extraordinary trust we place in our military officers—and of the responsibilities they must bear.”

To read the full article, click on the link below.

Honor and Loyalty: A West Point Scandal Serves as a Reminder of the Enduring Tensions between Time-Honored Values | City Journal