

The New York Sun Opinion: Navy Shipbuilding is Sinking Fast

In "Navy Shipbuilding is Sinking Fast" (The New York Sun Opinion, July 17, 2025), Pollock Cohen partner Steve Cohen discusses an announcement by the Navy that the delivery of its newest nuclear-power aircraft carrier, the U.S.S. John F. Kennedy, would be delayed another two years. He maintains that shipbuilding is a national embarrassment and that delays and cost overruns could now threaten national security, cautioning that, "Radical change is needed."

Opinion: Navy Shipbuilding is Sinking Fast | The New York Sun